2009/2010 MOUNTAIN UPDATES

Some say it's the skiing and riding, others say it's the majestic views of Mount Washington, but for the purists it's the experience. Ranked in the East's top nine ski resorts for Snow, Grooming, Weather, Dining, Après ski, Off Hill Activities and Family Programs by SKI Magazine, Attitash's 2,350' summit is nestled among the highest peaks in New England, offering two distinct mountains, the most varied terrain in the Mount Washington Valley, and one of New England's most advanced snow making systems.

With 78 trails ranging from traditional New England terrain to wide-open cruisers for all abilities and enthusiasts, to multiple terrain parks, snow-laden glades, slope-side accommodations, restaurants and live entertainment - Attitash is more than a mountain ... it's a family environment with something for everyone.

Ranked as the East's eleventh ski resort overall by Ski Magazine, Attitash offers impeccable resort service, the region's only slopeside accommodations in the Grand Summit Hotel and superior conditions backed by one of New England's most advanced snow making systems. With more than 1,700 vertical feet of terrain, 78 trails, multiple terrain parks and snow-laden glades, Attitash is more than a mountain ... it's a complete skiing and riding experience.

Attitash has invested more than $3 million in resort enhancements over the past three seasons, embarking on the 2009/2010 winter season with greater snowmaking capacity, enhanced grooming, base lodge renovations and expanded terrain parks.

Attitash offers the most extensive and varied terrain in the Mount Washington Valley, on two distinct mountains. For those in search of big air, Attitash's terrain parks offer signature rails, jibs and features, while the ATP Training Ground consist of smaller features and rails for an introductory park experience for all ages.

Combining the terrain on two mountains with the region's most powerful snowmaking system, slopeside accommodations, an exemplary ski and ride school, two bases lodges and multiple dining options at the Adventure Center, differing lounge options, two rental shops and three retail locations, at Attitash, We've Got It Covered!
